

THE WAR IN FLORIDA—SHIPPING ROSIN, COTTON AND TURPENTINE, THE PROPERTY OF UNION CITIZENS, FROM NEW FERNANDINA FOR NEW YORK.—FROM A SKETCH BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST, MR. CRANE.

SHIPPING ROSIN, COTTON, ETC., FROM FERNANDINA TO NEW YORK.

In accordance with the declaration that "commerce follows the flag," the Federal Government at once restores commercial freedom of action to the loyal citizens of every port or place regained by the force of our arms to the legitimate authority of the United States. This is being attended with the happiest effect, since it dissipates the childish but still infamous falsehood of Beauregard, that our war is one of vengeance. We publish a characteristic sketch of the shipment of Southern products from Fernandina for the New York market. These, of course, are the property of sound Union men, who had been compelled by outside pressure to remain quiescent till they could avow their real sentiments with safety.
