Job Description

Role and Responsibilities

Seeking a .NET Developer with emphasis on developing web-based applications. As a member of the project team, the developer will work in an interactive environment with business and technical staff to ensure a high degree of collaboration in support of a successful overall solution. Responsibilities for this role will include writing code consistent with the application architecture direction, ensuring compliance against standards and best practices, and troubleshooting source code for anomalies and performance.

Qualifications and Requirements

- Working knowledge and experience of C#, ASP.NET MVC / Web API and SQL.
- Experience in deploying software solutions utilizing primarily the Microsoft .NET framework.
- Experience in usage of modern n-Tier design patterns.
- Experience with asynchronous programming patterns.
- Experience in JavaScript, jQuery, and modern strongly opinionated JavaScript frameworks such as Angular, React, Angular 2, etc.
- Experience with an industry accepted, structured software development life cycle methodology.
- Ability to develop performant and compliant .NET source code.
- Ability to contribute to technical specifications and technical design documentation for the software development team.
- Ability to effectively analyze software source code in order to validate the application for business and technical requirements while supporting the improvement of the application.
- Experience working in teams to address software defect analysis, troubleshooting, and resolution.
- Proven ability in performance testing and optimization of developed source code for an enterprise business application.
- Proven ability to work collaboratively with the software development team while driving software improvements.
- Ability to work collaboratively with a team addressing technical issues and problems.
- Ability to prepare and present concepts and vision (written and verbal) to the software development team, senior management, and other internal and external stakeholders.
- Candidate must be an excellent communicator.
